DAYTONA, FLORIDA, THURSDAY, NOV. 4, 1920

Old Line Republicans Carried Daytona Precinct Four to Three, First Time in History of City

For the first time in the history of Daytona, Republican presidential electors received a majority of votes, the Daytona electors showing a preference for Harding and Coolidge on a ratio of three to two on Tuesday, according to the completed tabulation of votes in this precinct.

It was a complete reversal of form, as Wilson electors, in 1916, carried Daytona about two to one, against Hughes, and was due, of course, to the large number of women voting, who were in a large majority for Harding.

Otherwise the ticket ran true to form, the national and state Democratic nominees being returned with large majorities, most of them, from two to one, and some three to one. This was due, from a perusal of the ballots, to the fact that hundreds of negroes in the county voted for Republican presidential electors and voted little else on the ticket, many of them ignoring the state ticket, voting the national and county.

In the county H. G. Putnam and Murray Sams, nominees on the Democratic ticket for state representatives, were given big majorities over Lyons and Donnelly, while C. L. Vining, as county commissioner from this district, was given the highest vote of any commissioner, all of whom were unopposed.

H. T. McClellan, the only member of the county school board to have opposition, was returned by 538 votes over 181 given Mrs. Harriet Longdon, of Daytona Beach, Mrs. Longdon running away behind the balance of her ticket. Daytona answered the state road bond issue amendment to the tune of 532 against and 124 for, somewhat larger than the state vote, which it is believed will run about three to one.

The race for sheriff, staged by Lee Morris and M. A. Galbreath, subtracted all other interest from the election, the vote running along fairly even at first, then veered to Morris, and finally swung around to a 23 majority for Galbreath, who was defeated on the county vote by 274.

The physiology of the ballot was shown in the determination of Daytona women to help elect a Republican national ticket, but to retain Democratic county officialdom.

If the threat of the Democratic county political machine to challenge and disfranchise all those who voted for other than regularly nominated Democrats is carried out, two-thirds of the Democratic party of the Daytona precinct will not be allowed to vote in the next primary, as approximately 900 persons voted in the Tuesday election for other than the regularly nominated Democrats, as opposed to about 480 who stuck to the Democratic electors.

Three hundred persons went to the polls in Daytona and voted the ticket without marking the ballot for sheriff. This number would apparently be swelled to over a thousand in the county, which puts Morris' majority of 274 in a clear light.

Daytona, however, is not alone in making history for the Republican party this year, in going Republican for presidential electors, as other Florida cities, and many counties in the South, were caught in the landslide for Harding.

Following is the complete Daytona vote:

For presidential electors—Martin Carballo, 484; P. W. Carr, 499; Charles E. Jones, 493; W. V. Knott, 492; J. G. Sharon, 483; G. B. Wells, 482; W. R. Bryant, 29; Charlotte R. Coffin, 22; R. A. Ex-service men patrolled all the roads leading into Orlando last night, following a rumor that many negroes from the west side of the county were planning upon invading the city. It is now believed that the rumor was without foundation as negroes were not stirring from their homes in the community. It is hard to determine just how many negroes were killed, but officials give the number as six.

"Crime" means something forbidden by the law of the land; "sin" is often taken to mean something forbidden by the law of God, and "wrong" may be taken to mean something forbidden by what Locke called the law of opinion. What acts are to be classed as crimes depends upon the meaning of the law, exactly where the line is drawn, and on which side of it the act in question falls. Hence the long-drawn-out arguments of lawyers and the close decisions of the courts. And when one thinks of right and wrong in this same legalistic way there is room for all sorts of casuistry and moral hair-splitting. One may try to come near the line without crossing over it, or to prove that he really has not crossed it when he has. The effect of this on character is bad. But a public-spirited man does not wish merely to avoid breaking laws; and in the moral field also it is often better to leave the question of laws or rules in the background and judge one's conduct more freely for what it is in itself and its natural effects—to speak less of right and wrong, and more of better and worse—to ask if one's act is the best, the kindest, wisest or most honorable, that one could have carried out under all the circumstances? That makes it no longer a question of being on one side or the other of some absolute line, but in the perfection that some master in the art of living might attain. Such an attitude encourages one to learn by experience, and it discourages ennobling self-righteousness, and the harsh condemnation of others who may be weaker, less intelligent or less experienced than oneself.

WHITE HORSES

Where are the white horses of yesterday? Yes, where are even the piebald steeds? The best of them generally drifted to the fire department or to the show ring where the present generation of grownups were boys and girls. Now horses have largely been replaced by motors in the fire divisions, and a lot of other places, too. So, with the natural decrease in the ordinary use of the equine, the percentage of white animals has almost petered out. One of the pleasures in the old days of seeing a white horse was to make a careful survey to spot a red-haired girl. And vice versa. Even that entertainment seems to have been taken away. There's always been a lot of josh and superstition carried on in connection with white horses, too. In England it has always been figured as bad luck if one met a white horse in the road and failed to spit at it. And in Wexford sufferers from whooping-cough had a queer method of cure. They trod the highway until they met a piebald horse. "What's good for the whooping cough?" the patient would cry out to the rider, and no matter how silly the remedy the rider suggested, it was adhered to, and counted a sure cure. But those days are passing, for several reasons, one being the scarcity of horses, perhaps.

LADIES OF THE JURY!

As electors you now have the right to sit in judgment in the courts of law. Being a right, jury service also is a duty.

Be not like those men, all too numerous, who seek by various devices to evade this duty and shift it to others. It is these shirkers who may from time to time be heard complaining of the quality of justice as served by juries; of the incapacity of jurors and the weaknesses of the jury system. They who evade the service of justice have no right to complain of its quality.

Entertain no doubts as to your ability to serve as hand-maidens of justice the quality of faithfulness that is the crowning virtue of those who are most fit to sit in judgment. The conscientious devotion that annihilates your sex in all relations of life is the sort of fidelity that is the life of justice.

Some men scoff at woman jurors but in their childhood it was to their mothers, rather than to their fathers that they went when there was a wrong to be righted. Recognition of woman as the embodiment of justice is insinuating in the race.

BEAUTY

"A little beauty is a dangerous thing."

A trite saying—but true. And the more beauty the more danger. Nor is it necessarily a compliment.

How many can honestly say they have never witnessed the manipulations of a pretty woman wringing a tortuous way through traffic for her car? A smile here for the helpless traffic cop who blocks her way in vain; an apologetic nod there to soothe the feelings of a bewildered pedestrian whose coat or sleeve she fanned, forgetting—no, might as well be honest—neglecting the rights of a safety zone.

"Well, but I can't waste so much time! I just have to get home and start dinner!" Or, "The meeting will be half over! I just couldn't get started any sooner—so many little things to do."

Will the equality of suffrage change man's attitude toward the pretty woman? Not if the laws of evolution hold good. Women have learned through centuries of experience that beauty is a thing to conjure with. They will not unlearn it soon. And it must be added in justice, men do not seem to want them to!

In the announcement made by the Public Health Service that a Louisiana site has been selected for the location of a National Leprosarium there is more than ordinary interest. First of all, this is because the Louisiana site offers the only place in North America to which the government was invited to come. The location selected is the former state colony for lepers, where more than a hundred people have been in residence and cared for under state supervision.

Few people in North America realize that there are one or more lepers in 29 different states of the union, and leading experts estimate the total number of people in the United States who are afflicted with leprosy as anywhere from 500 to 2500. As a matter of self-protection, the public could do no less than arrange to segregate the lepers of the United States, in order to stay the spread of the disease. It has been shown in other countries that the establishment of segregation camps will most effectively eradicate leprosy. While this is in mind as an ultimate objective, it is good to realize that lepers in the United States are being treated as human beings, and no longer will it be necessary to have such startling headlines appear in the newspapers as: "Lepers at large in this city," "Lepers escape from guard," etc., for now there is a place where these leprosy people may be cared for humanely, and it is to be done under the direction of the U. S. Public Health Service.

This is but a beginning in the program of winning governments in all lands, and humane citizens everywhere, to a combined effort for the care of two million lepers, which, it is estimated, is the probable number scattered through the length and breadth of the world.

Leprosy is only feebly contagious, and then by prolonged contact. For this reason alone, it is unscientific and inhuman to regard the leper as an outcast.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—To stimulate private commercial aeronautics, the postoffice department is letting contracts to private air service concerns to carry the mail. It is believed this will be the beginning of real development in air transportation.

Contracts have just been let that will take approximately $500,000 annually from the railroads and give it to airplane companies. Airplane companies in some cases have bargained to carry the mail cheaper than the railroads do.

Establish New Lines
New air mail lines are to be established as follows:
The New York-Washington route is to be extended to Atlanta, Ga., with stops at Raleigh, N. C., and Columbia, S. C.; a new route from New York to Chicago, by way of Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Pa., and Fort Wayne, Ind.; Pittsburgh to St. Louis; Key West, Fla., to Havana, Cuba; Seattle to Victoria.

A contract to carry 1,500 pounds of mail each way six days a week on the Pittsburgh-St. Louis, New York-Chicago and New York-Atlanta routes has been let to Alfred W. Lawson, New York, owner of an airplane factory in Milwaukee. On the Pittsburgh-St. Louis route he will receive $147,000 a year, whereas by train it has been costing $200,000 a year. His contracts on New York-Chicago and New York-Atlanta call for $238,000 and $200,000 annually respectively same as the trains have been charged. The speed of the mails between all these points will be cut in two. Heretofore it has taken 26 hours to run between New York and Atlanta. A plane will make it in 12 hours.

Air Mail to Cuba
For carrying mail between Seattle and Victoria, Edward Hubbard will receive $200 a round trip, carrying 600 pounds. The Florida-West Indies Air Corporation will receive $20,000 a year for carrying 500 pounds of mail fully from Key West to Havana, and in addition $1.68 a pound for all mail bearing excess postage. The Cuban government has been asked to contract to have return mail sent by airplane.

Also, there is a route from Chicago to St. Louis.

The government planes are now carrying mail between New York and St. Louis. Lawson starts his service, which will be in less than three months. The Key West-Havana route will start November 1.

A new feature about the Lawson routes is he will carry passengers and freight. He will build powerful planes, and, in fact, already has some of them almost completed.

The mail contracts will go a long way in helping the routes become a financial success.

DOVER, Mass., Nov. 4.—A Franklin penny, the first copper coin to be authorized by Congress, has been found on the homestead of one of the first settlers here. It was struck in 1787 and is one of a few that were coined.

The penny took its name from Benjamin Franklin because of the inscription in its design of the homely admonition "Mind your business," after a suggestion by him that coins should serve purposes other than those of legal tender.

On one side 13 circles appear linked together, a small circle in the middle with the word "United States" around it, and in the center "We are one." On the other side is a dial with the hours indicated, a meridian sun above it, on one side of which is the word "Fugio" and on the other the date "1787." Below the dial appears the Franklin phrase "Mind your business."

First Thing

The first thing that struck me when I stepped out of the hotel this morning was the cold. It was a sharp contrast to the warm weather I had been expecting. The sun was shining brightly, but the wind was biting. I shivered as I walked down the steps. The first thing I noticed was the cold. It was a sharp contrast to the warm weather I had been expecting. 1000 Rubs That We'll Be Glad to Take

Don't figure the laundry rubs there in your family wash, when it's done the old rub-and-tub way?

Take a sheet, for instance—25 rubs down and 25 back, 50 for each sheet, six sheets, 300 rubs.

Towel—10 rubs, 100 for the dozen. Handkerchiefs, 25, or 125 for the dozen. Wash-dresses, 50 rubs, or 150 for four pieces, 15 rubs apiece, or 90 for the half-dozen.

One thousand—ten thousand rubs exacted of yourself every Monday morning?

Our system, simpler, more efficient and more business, you should interest you. It requires no rubbing—only gentle wash in alkali Dolly made of mild and pure color-fast water, but removes every trace of soil and sets a special of soap. And it's free.

That is our way—the modern laundry way, and if you'll give it a trial once, we'll give you a special of soap. We wash every day—pink in the day most transparent for you and our driver will ask.

The team which Coach Stanley Glosser and Principal J. H. Heston have picked to represent Daytona Central high tomorrow night is made up of: Carlyle Cameron, Nicholas Bortie, Harlow Merryday, Charles Garvey and Howard Armstrong, with Lawrence Rixby and John Hagomwald as substitutes.

Next Vice President

CALVIN COOLIDGE

(United Press.)
BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Calvin Coolidge, vice president elect, former "law-and-order" governor of Massachusetts, is just what his name implies—a sturdy son of New England, unassuming, almost taciturn, endowed with a single-minded purpose and the same determination that gave his ancestors, John and Mary Coolidge, the courage to make themselves a home in the wilderness of forest that was Massachusetts in 1630.

Born on a farm, the son of a prosperous farmer, near Plymouth, Vt., Calvin Coolidge spent his early youth much as any other farmer's son, in doing the chores about the farm. His ambitions, however, did not lead him to follow in the footsteps of his father, and the latter with the wisdom of one who understands, encouraged and assisted young Coolidge in his plans to enter college.

Coolidge was born on Independence day, 1872, a coincidence which his admirers say gave him the singleness of purpose and Yankee obstinacy characteristic of the man.

History and affairs of government were subjects of intense interest to Coolidge even when a boy. He specialized in these subjects at Amherst college and graduated in the class of 1895. In his senior year he won first honors, a gold medal offered by the Sons of the American Revolution, for the best essay by an undergraduate of an American college, on the principles of the war for American independence.

After studying law for less than two years in a small office at Northampton, Mass., Coolidge was admitted to the bar. He took a prominent part in the city government, being elected to the city council, and later was elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He was mayor of Northampton in 1910 and 1911, and later was elected to the state senate. In which he served four years. His participation in the government of his state was the first step in Coolidge's political career. After serving in the senate, he was elected lieutenant-governor and held office for three years until he was elected governor in 1919. He was re-elected in 1920.

His firm stand for law and order during the police strike in Boston brought Coolidge national recognition, and was the most significant incident in his career and the first step toward the place of honor to which he has been elected.

Coolidge does not answer the description of the popular conception of a politician. He is reserved even shy. He is not a good public speaker, his voice being colorless and seldom rises above a certain note. It is what Coolidge has to say and the very apparent air of personal conviction that holds his audiences and makes up for what he lacks in tricks of oratory. As a politician he showed none of the traditional traits—bluster and extravagant promises—nor did he indulge in bitter personalities. His criticism is calculated to be constructive rather than destructive and he propounds his ideas of government upon his principle that "there will come out of government what is put into it."

Away from the glare of public life the vice president elect lives the quiet life of the average American citizen. He is devoted to his home and family, and is the most important member in the councils of his two sons, John and Calvin, Jr., who call upon him for advice and bring into play their father's skill with tools in constructing boyish "contraptions" such as automobiles and kites.

"Cal," as Coolidge is known to his close friends, whether it be at his home at Northampton or "resting" at the old homestead near Plymouth, is the type of home-loving man who tinkers about the household. He still can plough a furrow straight, and clean, milk a cow and toss hay with the best of them.

At his home in a two-family house, the other side of which is occupied by a professor, Calvin Coolidge, frequently elected to wash dishes, dust the parlor and "tend" the furnace. He is also proud that he can cook "mildling well."

It was while studying law in Northampton that Coolidge met his wife, then Miss Grace A. Goodhue of Burlington, Vt. Miss Goodhue was teaching school in Northampton and lived directly across the street from the boarding house in which Coolidge maintained a small room filled with ponderous books of law and volumes of history. He was anything but a "ladies' man," and it was months after he first saw the girl that was to become his wife that he was attracted to her. It was long months after the meeting that he finally gathered courage to "pop the question." They were married in 1905.

Coolidge looks forward to taking his place as vice president as an active worker in helping to carry out the policies of the new administration.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Police-men Fred Brown rushed to a Chinese rooming house here when Bo See, owner, telephoned that he couldn't arouse Ah Lung, his guest, and thought he was dead. The Facts of the Telephone Situation in Florida

By J. Epps Brown, President.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

The Company has 660 unfilled applications for telephone service in the state of Florida today.

We can not furnish this service because we do not have the facilities. During 1919 our forecast for 1920 warned us to expect and prepare for this demand. This we did.

During 1919 adequate facilities to meet the 1920 service demand were planned, the necessary money arranged for, their immediate construction authorized and orders for material and equipment placed with the manufacturers.

To complete this 1920 construction program for Florida, now under way, requires the expenditure of $400,000.00.

The 5th and 6th advertisements of this series give the details of this construction program and the reasons why the material and equipment orders have not been filled.

Until these orders are filled, sufficient facilities to supply this service can not be provided.

The demand for service continues to grow.

Modern conditions and business methods have made telephone service a basic unit of commerce.

As the population and business of the country grow, the need for telephone service grows.

No one doubts that the population and business of Florida will continue to grow.

Our forecast for the next five years' service requirements shows that, at the end of 1925, there will be a net gain of 9,300 telephones in this state.

These forecasts are based upon population, present and prospective, and an analysis of business conditions, present and prospective. The Company's present plant in Florida was built upon such forecasts and experience has proven their accuracy.

To meet the almost certain demand for telephone service in Florida during the next five years (in addition to the 1920 construction program now under way), plant must be installed and expenditures must be made as follows:

FIVE-YEAR PROGRAM OF CONSTRUCTION, STATE OF FLORIDA.

	Telephone Installations	Telephone Disconnections	Net Gain	Total No. of Telephones	Construction Cost
In 1921	5,400	3,700	1,700	26,428	$ 699,156
In 1922	5,100	4,000	1,100	27,528	658,114
In 1923	4,400	4,500	1,000	28,528	1,184,510
In 1924	4,500	5,000	1,500	29,528	1,795,616
In 1925	7,700	5,000	2,700	34,028	1,849,516
Total	37,100	22,200	14,900	140,028	$ 5,097,000

These amounts are subject to increase in the amount actually spent in completing the 1920 program.

In no other way can this service be furnished. The necessary facilities do not exist; they must be built.

The must be built in advance of their actual need; in no other way can there be a "readiness to serve."

The next advertisement will tell you why and who you can to insure telephone service for the immediate future.

ESTATE OF THE LATE EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH WILL BE USED FOR INVALIDS

(The Associated Press.)

VIENNA, Nov. 4.—The vast estates of the late Emperor Francis Joseph will be devoted to the pension fund of invalid soldiers under a decision just taken by the cabinet council. Certain castles and dwellings in this city and the nearby suburb of Baden will either be occupied by them or the fund will receive the rentals and other accretions.

Included in the arrangement are the splendid estates of Orth, Voessendorf, Maltzhoefen, Foeggall, Augarten, Lavenburg, Hetzendorf and many others, the decision also covering the Lainz Tiergarten, near Vienna, on which a group of some hundreds of former soldiers recently squatted.

The income of the Prater, Vienna's most famous suburban park with its numerous restaurants and amusement places, is also included. Many of the estates contain model farms and others are under rentals of much value.

The late Emperor Francis Joseph who died in 1916, bequeathed 60,000,000 crowns from his private fortune to a fund for wounded soldiers, invalids and relatives of men killed in his war. To two daughters and one granddaughter he bequeathed 20,000,000 crowns each, the remaining 10,000,000 crowns of his estate to be divided among several other legatees.

It has since been reported that an American-Dutch company has bought the emperor's summer palace at Ischl, in the Tyrol, for hotel purposes. The hunting estates and lodges of the late emperor in the Tyrol were advertised for sale in January last. Francis considered these the finest in Europe.

OLD NAG DIDN'T RESEMBLE RACER
(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
TORONTO, Nov. 4.—The old nag which came in a horse race marked "Man of War" might much resemble the knight of the conception of the famous racer here, although the nag was blanketed and groomed to a fine-tooth. The clerk of horses in his stall tipped off the horse and they called Detective Inspector W. D. Doherty. Cops found the nag well fitted with snuggled figure.
